

Conclusion. Stress is the spread thing during educational process and life in general. It can cause enormous harm to our body and mental health. Therefore, we have to be attentive to our feelings and thoughts. Sometimes your body just needs some rest. The most important thing you need to learn is how to avoid situations that may provoke it. As a result you will be able to better manage stress and concentrate on your studies.

REFERENCES

1. Beilock S. L. Back to school: Dealing with academic stress / Psychological Science Agenda. – 25 (9). – 2011.
2. Dusselier L., Dunn B., Wang Y., Shelley M.C., Whalen D.F. Personal, health, academic, and environmental predictors of stress for residence hall students / Journal of American College Health. – 54 (1). – 2005. – P. 15-24.
3. Selye H. Stress Without Distress. – Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Co, 1974. – 171 p.
4. Lazarus R. S., Folkman S. Stress, appraisal and coping. – New York: Springer Pub. Co, 1984. – 445 p.
5. Selye H. Confusion and controversy in the stress field / Journal of Human Stress. – 1975. – P. 37-44.
6. Society for Research on Nicotine and Tobacco [Electronic source] / SRNT Health Disparities Network. – Available at: <http://www.srnt.org/>

Маліновська Дар'я В'ячеславівна

Київський національний університет технологій та дизайну
(м. Київ)

Науковий керівник – Великожон В.А.

JURIDICAL BUSINESS IN UKRAINE: A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

Juridical business is primarily a business whose purpose is to make a profit! Juridical business is a game that often goes beyond the established rules. Therefore, to be among the winners it is necessary not only to avoid own mistakes, but also to be able to master the lessons.

The world has changed a lot, and we no longer recognize the legal industry. One of the main elements of any professional qualification is mastering the necessary software which ultimately becomes more and more important. For example, this thesis wants to show the opinions of lawyers who deal in this area and what they think about the future of juridical business.

Oleksandr Sidorenko, the partner of MYUK ALEXANDROV & PARTNERS.

He says that business development will definitely affect the development of the legal market as a whole. Even now relationships between client and lawyer are influenced by a certain globalization. We are increasingly faced with the fact that the client wants to get not only legal services, but also business decisions that he could introduce in his activities.

Therefore, in the future the companies that can provide services related to strategic management and can not offer the client ready and effective business decisions will quit the legal business. That is why, for the future prosperity, existing law firms need to analyze the trends of the legal market development, develop their own strategic plans and implement them. The future will determine who was right and will show who was wrong!

Yulia Stusenko, associate partner of JSC «Sklyarenko, Sidorenko & Partners».

In her opinion, in the future, in five-ten years, there will be such changes and innovations in the legal services market:

- Demand for international trade, arbitration and judicial practice will increase.
- Law firms will evolve through mergers and acquisitions, as there is a large number of small law firms on the market now, and in the future they will decide on possible mergers in order to reach the new level of service provision.

- A big part of legal services will be provided in an electronic remote format, including client requests for processing by lawyers and the provision of certain legal services will be carried out remotely in electronic form.

To be competitive tomorrow, lawyers today must have a basic knowledge of IT technologies that are used in the modern world, and modernize their activities in the field of storage and exchange of information, including the protection of information received from clients.

Yevhen Kuzmenko, partner of the law firm «Semenov & Partners»

In order to be able to look confidently in the future, it is necessary to prepare for possible changes nowadays, and it is even better for it to offer and implement what can change the legal business for the better and restore respect for the legal profession. It is likely that legal business support can become a vector on the market for the next three or five years.

It is believed that the general trend of globalization is reflected in the legal market, leaving behind some other sectors of the economy.

The juridical business is actively looking for opportunities of development which is caused by the integration processes.

Maria Ilyashik, lawyer assistant «BASF LTD.»

Today, a society is imposing high demands on a lawyer. For a modern lawyer it is not enough to have the deep knowledge that he has gained in higher educational institution. Nowadays, a successful lawyer is a person who is not only a professional in his business, but who also fully understands the activities of his client.

First of all, a modern lawyer must know the basic legal acts, be able to interpret them and apply them in practice. In addition to professional knowledge, a modern lawyer must possess the latest technology, use modern technologies, be able to analyze the received information in detail. The future of the legal business promises global changes – we are open to them and are ready to work effectively under the new conditions.

Armen Khachaturian senior partner of «Asters»

He says that innovations that are sufficiently multiparty and make you think in a modern way, be more flexible and adapt to customers. From now on, the research role of the lawyer goes into the background, creating mixed groups of professionals from different professions in order to provide complex services to clients. The lawyer must be a coordinator of these processes, and the future will be for those firms that are moving to such word outlook.

The strategies of developing a law firm become more related to the strategies of introducing business by customers, so there is some adjustment to the needs of the market.

The emergence of alternative business structures increases competition.

Extending the «more for less» principle, which reduces the cost of expanding business by making it more effective by using modern technologies.

For future professionals in the legal business it is necessary to have a perfect possession of modern computer technologies, as well as the continuous improvement of their skills in this area as a guarantee of effective work and competitiveness in the chosen sphere.

In conclusion the juridical market in Ukraine will continue to show a tendency towards globalization in the market by companies' integration and merging. A law firm is a business. This is an axiom. The future of the legal market depends on realizing of this axiom.

REFERENCES

1. Журнал сучасного правника «Український юрист» [Електронний ресурс ] – Режим доступу: <http://jurist.ua/?article/1203>.
2. Юридична газета online [Електронний ресурс] – Режим доступу: <http://yur-gazeta.com/publications/legal-business/yuridichniy-biznes-poglyad-u-maybutne.html>.