MODERN INTERIOR DESIGN TRENDS FOR HOMES AND APARTMENTS

There are many trends in interior design today, but I want to write about more modern and fashion trends. It will make your accommodations both comfortable and beautiful. Everyone's preferences and tastes are different, it is not easy to please everyone, but I'll try to do it.

In general, the main thing that surrounds you in the interior is the walls, ceiling, floor and windows, so have to pay a lot of attentions to this. You don't have to spend much money on unnecessary things, because naturalness and ease are important now.

So let's start with the lighting. The lighting should be natural from the street from the sun. Because the sun shines into your apartment or room, it fundamentally affects everything else placing a sofa, bed, table and even a kitchen. Well-known designers say that living rooms should be located in the east and southeast, and to the north, places you don't often go to. Regardless of the type of dwelling, space, lots of light and minimalism are trending.

As a result, the windows are also quite simple, since the rooms seem spacious if the windows are large. If you are just planning to renovate or buy a new home then you should pay attention to the panoramic windows.

Now let's talk about the floors in the interiors that do not change: in the kitchen, hallway and bathrooms the designer advises to put the tile. Specialists in this case advise to choose a tile of large size porcelain tiles. Because this material is very durable, it is not destroyed by the fall of various objects. Also, it looks like a natural stone. In 2020, the oak, walnut and root veneer of oil and eucalyptus or birch veneers will be in fashion. But the classic version will be trending for the budget variant.

One of the most important is the walls; we are going to talk about now. Wallpaper is a major element of wall decoration. The trend is wide monochrome wallpapers. The cool idea is combining different wallpapers. Among the different patterns, you can choose vegetable motifs. This is great choice, because if you have some pieces of wallpaper then you can refresh the room. The coolest solution for walls is monochrome. Trend colors are complex blue, close to indigo: light gray-blue or light blue-green. Fashionable also are blue, light turquoise, mint and crimson and light yellow. Designers often use contrast in colors. But you shouldn't decorate the walls too much [1].

Furniture and decor are equally important parts of interior design. The amount of furniture should be minimal in the room. Ceiling furniture is the perfect solution for the kitchen.

Finally, I will help you understand the styles.

There are two directions for designing modern apartments: minimalism and modern style.

Characteristic of the modern style: pastel tones; natural coatings and materials; the presence of smooth lines and uneven contours.

Minimalism is characterized by: a large amount of light; not much furniture.

What will be fashionable in 2020? I will answer you this question. Try to begin with the topic of ecology and restoration. For example, if you have outdated furniture you do not need to throw it away. You can change to new stylish furniture.

The style of the 60-70 years begins to enter fashion again. The colors are dominated by red shades that inspire. But it is important to keep the color balance and some bright colors better to soothe the neutral white [2].

Designers say that transparent elements of decor are becoming more popular. This will create an atmosphere of ease in the room.

Honestly for me it was a novelty. Mixing metals in the interior is fashionable! You can decorate the room with silver, brass and bronze [3].

The modern interior will be dominated by people, their needs and hobbies. The interior should be simple, concise and comfortable. So stay tuned!
